NATIONAL GARDEN MONTH

GATHER UP YOUR TOOLS AND GET DIRTY

Sharpen your tools. Collect your seeds. Prepare your beds. It's time to plant!

Tips for New Gardeners

- Start small – Gardening can be an investment. Start with container gardening if you want to give it a whirl. Tomatoes and peppers will provide color and produce to eat. Herbs such as basil, sage, and rosemary can also be brought in during the winter if planted in a container. If kept in a sunny window and watered when they are dry, they should survive the winter. Trim and use in your cooking.
- Soil – Use the right soil for the plant. Depending on the plant, you may need to check with the garden center or extension service to determine if you have the right soil to grow a particular plant or tree. Areas with clay soils do not drain well and your plants will have wet roots in rainy weather. Sandy soils drain easily, but in a drought, the plant will require more water unless the plant is drought resistant.
- Potted Plants – Anything in a container, such as a clay, plastic or resin pot will require more watering than a plant that has been placed in the earth. Depending on the daily temperature, these plants will likely need to be watered at least twice a day.
- Fertilizer – Not all fertilizer is the same. Read labels and use the correct fertilizer for the type of plant.
- Mulch – Mulching bedded plants helps protect from weeds and keeps from water loss.
- Raised beds – Helps save on weeding and back-breaking work.

How to Build a Fairy Garden

1. Select Your Container.

To create your first fairy garden, you'll need a large container that will be the home to your miniature plants and of course, your fairies!

2. Lay your groundwork and prepare the materials for planting.

It's best to do a little research on what types of miniature plants you'll plant in your fairy garden so you can prepare the appropriate soil for it.

3. Begin planting your miniature plants.

Add a variety of colors and textures to your fairy garden by collecting different types of miniature plants.

4. Create your scene with fairy garden accessories.

Your fairy garden can be inspired by a theme. You can be inspired by day-to-day events and scenes or holidays. A fairy garden can show a scene like brunch or tea time, or follow a theme like a playground, countryside or barnyard, and more. You can even be inspired by the changing seasons, such as Summer and Fall. Once you decide on a theme or idea, you can collect fairy garden accessories to make up your scene

5. Add finishing touches and make sure to water the plants.

To make your fairy garden even more magical, you can opt to add accessories such as a dainty white picket fence that calls to mind the countryside. Adding toadstools will lure fairies and their woodland friends, such as butterflies! A fairy sign will also help them navigate your fairy garden. Lastly, sprinkle some water on your plants to regularly keep them hydrated throughout the season and make sure they grow nice and strong.

Idalis the Indoor Gardening Fairy

Hello and welcome, my name is Idalis! I am the fairy in charge of all indoor gardening seminars. I teach all the new fairies from fairy headquarters how to create the indoor fairy garden, what houses to put in, and the most important thing– why they should live in an indoor fairy garden. Some fairies need to reside in indoor fairy gardens due to the unfavorable weather. These indoor gardens are becoming absolutely more popular and we have an overflow of fairies wanting to live in them. If you're looking for a fairy for your indoor garden, please contact me. I will find the perfect one for you.

A detailed miniature garden scene, likely a diorama or a small-scale model. The central focus is a small, white, textured house with a brown, shingled roof. The house has a blue door and a blue-framed window with a yellow interior. A wooden sign with the word "Welcome" is placed near the entrance. To the left of the house, two winged figures, possibly fairies or angels, are standing on a small patch of ground. One figure is wearing a pink dress and the other is wearing a blue dress. A small, light-colored dog is also present. The scene is surrounded by various plants, including purple flowers, green foliage, and a large, dark green fern. The entire scene is set within a circular, reddish-brown frame, possibly a terracotta pot or a decorative border.
